

missional conversation. Yet the book fails to sufficiently reflect on the important questions of power and empire associated with this context and its relation to the globalised world, and particularly on the question of the church's embeddedness within the systems of power in the North American context, that of the United States in particular.

Reviewer: Cobus van Wyngaard is a research assistant in the department of Philosophy and Systematic Theology at the University of South Africa. He can be contacted at vwwnggi@unisa.ac.za or PO Box 12372, Hatfield, 0028.